

The lost little princess

By Britney and Raeylnn

Once upon a time there was a princess and she went to go pick strawberries. 🍓

She was getting ready to go home because it was getting dark. But on her way home she took a wrong path 😱

It started to rain and the princess needed to find shelter, then she saw a little house and went in.

When the princess went in the house she saw hot coco and a fire. Then a girl popped out from the kitchen and said that it's ok and that she said that the princess could stay the night☕

The princess's said thank you and excepted the invitation. The girl and the princess had a slumber party and ate strawberries and some pizza that the girl had made!zzz

The next day the princess said thank you and the girl gave her a map to find her way back to her tower, they said their goodbyes and hugged and then agreed to see each other soon. 🌍

The princess found her way back to her tower and still visits her friend all the time to eat strawberries and have sleepovers. ❤️

The end